

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a power supply device for a radio telephone system which can normally perform radio communication during power failure, by providing power of a battery disposed at a main body of the system or a wireless handset to the inside circuit of the main body, when direct current power is not supplied to the radio telephone system due to the power failure or the like.